Notes of first review

Action taken is noted in the 'done' column together with matters that will continue to be addressed and that will continue to be a requirement or guidance that should be observed.

At the first service that took place on the 5 July the arrangements put in place for peoples wellbeing on the whole appeared to work well and there was no cause for concern. In the light of these observations and the review of this risk assessment it is not considered at the present time further measures need to be put in place. The situation will be kept under review and further adjustments will be made and guidance issued as appropriate. It is considered that this risk assessment should be reviewed again following Sunday 19th July unless circumstances indicate otherwise in the meantime.

11 July 2020

Notes of second review

Action taken is noted in the 'done' column together with matters that will continue to be addressed and that will continue to be a requirement or guidance that should be observed.

The government updated its guidance for the safe use of places of worship on the 17 July 2020. The main change of relevance to note is that whilst mandatory on public transport and from 24 July 2020 face coverings will be mandatory in shops and in supermarkets people are also encouraged to wear face coverings in enclosed public spaces where there are people they do not normally meet, such as a place of worship. In the light of this new guidance we have updated our church guidelines and will be reissuing these to worshippers by email and otherwise have copies available for any visitors.

Notes of third review

The updated church guidelines were re-issued to worshippers by email. In view that we are intending to hold a communion service on Sunday 2 August we have considered in more detail the preparation measures we will be taking and how the service will be conducted. The process that will be adopted is set out in a separate note. Members of the church participating will be advised of the process as the Pastor conducts the service.

This risk assessment will be kept under review in the light of any changes in government advice and/or circumstances as appropriate.

1 August 2020

Notes of fourth review

Further to previous government guidance encouraging the wearing of face coverings, from Saturday 8 August they are required by law to be worn in a greater number of indoor settings including places of worship. Our church guidelines have been updated accordingly and re-issued by email to worshippers to ensure they are aware of the requirement to wear a face covering when inside the chapel buildings unless under age 11 or a valid exemption applies. A copy of the updated guidelines will be posted on the chapel noticeboard and a poster displayed at the entrance making it clear that face coverings must be worn.

6 August 2020

Notes of fifth review

As from Sunday 9th August face coverings have been worn during services within our place of worship and will continue to be required until the government are able to amend the law and advise otherwise.

As from Sunday 20th September 2020 Sunday School will be recommencing at 1015 prior to the morning service until 1050. The risks additional to those already previously covered by this risk assessment have been considered and documented in row 16 above. Furthermore the teachers met on the 22nd August to consider the reopening of the Sunday School in the light of the Covid-19 restrictions and government advice. In view of the limitations including not being able to sing, the lesson format has been adapted and the time spent reduced by 10 minutes.

17 September 2020

Notes of sixth review

As from 14 September the government has restricted people from meeting in a group of 6 indoors or outdoors (the rule of 6) subject to certain exceptions including places of worship. Guidance relating to places of worship was most recently updated on the 24 September. With regard to communal worship it states that people must not mingle in a group of more than 6 (other than those they live with or have formed a support bubble with). Accordingly the congregation have been publicly reminded (as part of the notices) to respect this rule of 6 as it applies in addition to the ongoing social distancing requirements.

Given that a Bible Study class for a small group of young people has commenced and the occasional Friday youth meetings have recommenced the risks have been considered and documented in rows 17 and 18 above, respectively.

3 October 2020

Notes of seventh review

The risk assessment has been updated as set out in row 19 above given the need for a church members meeting to take place. Consideration has been given to the guidance in respect of safe use of places of worship and for the safe use of multi-purpose community facilities where applicable to this type of meeting.

The government's introduction of a system of local COVID alert levels on the 12 October 2020 is acknowledged. We are currently in an area subject to COVID alert level – medium restrictions with currently no significant implications for Places of Worship. However, this risk assessment will be kept under review and any necessary adjustments or changes to current practice will be made and advised to worshippers and others as appropriate.
